Productions

Agent D spun around as the Nazi ghoul rushed her. With a sure hand she fired off three quick shots from her pistol while turning to deliver a hard kick to the groin of the Nazi soldier trying to grab her from behind. “We might want to hurry my dear,” Offer Agent Y as he cut another of the Nazi undead down with his cane sword, “We have to stop that mad fool Field Marshal Knonner before he finishes the ritual and summons one of the elder gods.

This is Dept.13 the newest Mini-Game from Bad Baby Productions. Taking the S&G skirmish game system and add to it super spies, Nazi undead, occult horror and high tech science. Dept. 13 is a great mix of genres, all creating the wild world of a hidden war of occult and high tech suspense.

Introductions

Dept. 13 is a fast system for running occult based battles and encounters, either in one on one fights, or involving large battles between heroes and villainous groups.

Fully expandable, each set will offer players new characters, new Battle Tiles, and new rules so that their games can expand into full-fledged occult war fun.

Game Construction

Once you are ready to play Dept. 13, the first thing you will find necessary is to construct the game components. For the most part, the amount of time and extra expense you are willing to put into the game's construction is up to you. The simplest format is to print up all the needed parts and then just cut them out and go to it. Paper pieces are though, a bit difficult to deal with, so if you wish to continue to play Dept. 13 over and over again, and we hope you do, then you may want to invest a bit of time and effort in making your game components more durable and usable.

Suggestions on Component's Construction and Printing

First off, you should, if you want to spend the money, buy some good quality paper. Use this to print out the various components and counters. High end paper will give you a better quality image and if you set your printer to its highest quality setting, you should get a nice set of counters and cards. Next, get your hands on some spray glue. (Available at most craft stores and office supply stores) Use this to mount the components onto thick card stock or chipboard. This will make the parts easier to pick up and use, which generally creates a better over all experience. Should you wish, you can protect your many parts with a clear, self-adhesive, sheet of lamination. (Again available at most office supply stores).

Plastic or metal miniatures can of course be used to replace the paper counters we have supplied, so have fun looking for the right figure to match what you need.

Cards are supplied with a front and back, so just print up a copy and then fold them along the seam. Glue the two parts together and you have a nice card for use in the game. If you like, you may laminate these cards, or buy protective cards sleeves for them. As you may want to use a washable marker on these cards to record damage and other effects, this protective sheath is suggested.

Getting Started

Once you have the game parts ready for use, you are ready to start a game. First you will need to pick a scenario to play. Set up the game Battle Tiles as dictated in the scenario and buy your characters as outlined for that game. Each player should then gather the needed counters and cards for the characters they will play, and prepare to start the game.

Each player should then roll 1D6, with the highest roller getting to place one of their characters on the Battle Tiles as dictated by the scenario. The second player then may place one of their characters, and so forth, until each player has placed all of their characters. (Note that some scenarios may have different rules for setting up, so read each carefully)

Characters

The game revolves around players using characters from different factions to battle their foes. Each character in the game has a series of stats that reflect just what the character can do and how well they perform actions. Each character in the game will come with a data card, showing these stats and other information for that character.

For the most part, all characters in the game are individual and unique. No player may have more then one character of any given type (Unless otherwise stated on the character's data card), although two players can have the same character if they are playing the same faction.

All characters within the game come in two classes, faction based and solos. Faction based characters are part of an organization who often working together to overcome their foes or characters of like minded pursuits. Solo characters, are individual characters that will work with any faction, if they are paid well or offered some other incentive.

The status of the character thus may have effects within the scenario that you are playing, as outline in that scenario. Otherwise, there is no difference between the various character types, and all are played the same way and follow the same rules.

Stats

All characters in the game have a series of stats that reflect their abilities. These stats have effects in the game as outlined below.

Attack and Defense

These two stats show how well the character hits and how hard it is to hit the character in combat.

Strength

This is how strong the character is and used in combat and when the character tries to throw objects.

Speed

How fast the character is, the stat determines not only when the character gets to go in a turn, but how often.

Some characters will have a split speed, showing two or more numbers. This reflects characters that are very fast, and so are able to do more then one action in a turn. Each time the speed for that character comes up in the turn order, it may take two new actions.

Movement

This reflects just how far the character can move on any given move action.

Health

The amount of damage a character may take before they are knocked out (No one dies in this game) and removed from the game.

Will

The overall willpower of the character and a sign of their courage.

Adrenal Points

All characters have adrenal points, which reflects the amount of special abilities the character can perform in a game. The more adrenal points the character has, the more abilities they can use, and or, the more powerful those abilities might be. Each time a special ability is used, a set amount of adrenal points must be spent. When a character has used all of their adrenal points for the game, they cannot use any more of those special abilities.

Adrenal points though, can be regenerated by various mean, the most common being by resting.

Character Abilities

All characters will have one or more special abilities that it may activate during the course of the game. Each ability will generally cost a set amount of Adrenal points to activate, so read each carefully to be sure on how the ability works and how much it will cost.

Some abilities will be activated during the movement action of a character's activation, while others are used only during the attack phase, so be sure to read each description to be sure when it is activated and used.

Details on each of these abilities can be found in the character book.

Worlds of Wonder

Worlds of Wonder is a fast, simple to play RPG system designed for use by advance players who wish to create detailed characters without having to roll on endless charts and deal with endless rules.

After 30 some years of playing, running and designing games, be they RPG's or board games, we at Bad Baby have come to one conclusion. Its not the game's rules that make it enjoyable, but the people your play with. With that in mind, Worlds of Wonder takes the most important aspect of any RPG, the character creation, and tries to offer players, and their GM, the tools needed to make the time they spend together playing, well worth the time spent.

Yes Worlds of Wonder will offer you a detailed combat system, and several magic options, but the majority of the information presented will deal with the creation of your character and the many options that will be open to you.

What we have tried to present to you with Worlds of Wonder is a detail means of generating the kind of characters that you will both find enjoyable, and a system that will keep you thinking on just what to do next with those characters.

Worlds of Wonder offers players, and GMs, a fully developed RPG system. The core system rules comes with the following...

- * A fully illustrated set of rules, completely booked marked for easy use.
- * Rules for generating and running a game using the WoW System,

- * An RPG system that is fully expandable, and easy to use.
- * 15 Skill Sets, each with 4 skills and 10 levels of advancement within each skill.
- * Over 100 Arcane spells, set within 5 schools of magic.
- * Over 100 Divine spells, set within several generic faiths.
- * 20 fully detailed monstrous foes to battle, with hundreds more coming soon.
- * A full color character sheet.
- * Lifetime updates should we upgrade and or revises the system in any way.
- * A full copy of the core rules set in a print friendly format.

Besides the core system, we here at Bad Baby are also including, for free, a copy of our most popular Battle Tile sets, Dungeon Chambers. Use these full color battle tiles to liven up your RPG games and to run the many battles you will encounter while adventuring in Worlds of Wonder.

Worlds of Wonder Expansions

Want more Worlds of Wonder, try one of the many expansions for the system. More monsters, foes, magic, skill sets and gaming stuff to keep you occupied for weeks, months, hell maybe for a lifetime. Ever expanding, the WoW system is made for gaming fun, so don't wait, have an adventure and enter Worlds of Wonder.
